

Murdoch Medihotel

Care Awaiting Placement

Located adjacent to Fiona Stanley Hospital and operated by South Metropolitan Health Service, the newly-opened Medihotel offers a range of nursing, allied health and medical services to adult patients, including support for those who no longer require tertiary or specialist level care and are awaiting residential placement.

Why am I being asked to transfer?

Sir Charles Gairdner and Osborne Park Hospital patients who meet the eligibility criteria will be asked to transfer to the Medihotel to continue their care awaiting transfer pathway.

Patients eligible for transfer must be:

- Over the age of 65 years (or over the age of 45 for Indigenous Australians)
- No longer require acute medical or rehabilitative care in hospital
- Awaiting placement in either respite, transitional care or residential care.

Medihotel facilities are less like a hospital and allow patients and their family time to plan what is next in a patient's recovery.

Will I still receive care?

If you transfer to the Medihotel, your medical care will be continued by the Fiona Stanley Hospital medical team in consultation with Sir Charles Gairdner and Osborne Park Hospital staff.

Dedicated nursing and assistant in nursing staff will provide excellent 24-hour clinical care at the Medihotel in consultation with your Sir Charles Gairdner and Osborne Park Hospital treatment team. A multidisciplinary team will continue your treatment plan and includes physiotherapists, social workers and pharmacists.

If your condition deteriorates or changes, you may be transferred to Fiona Stanley Hospital until you are well enough to return to the Medihotel.

How much does it cost?

The stay is free for Medicare card holders.

What is included in my stay?

You will stay in a single room that includes free television, phone (local calls are free) and an ensuite.

You will receive meals that are cooked on site. Any special dietary requirements will be accommodated.

Tea and coffee facilities are available for families and visitors. Patient and family lounge areas are available.
